LANG! The last stroke! Our independence has come! What does it mean? It means that we are free! After four long years of hard struggle against tremendous odds we have emerged victorious. We have suffered losses; many have fallen by the wayside in our struggle for very existence. This is our consolation. Our battle has been fought on friendly soil, Barringer. Here we entered as mere youngsters to uphold the highest ideals of our Alma Mater, Truth, Honor and the Light. When we at first entered we did not realize the importance of these, but during our four years of work we have come to realize more fully the true significance of these ideals. Let us consider! Honor, Truth, Light. Have we fully realized how every day in one way or another these have come into our school life and home life and how they will continue to serve us in Life's School?

These are the ideals upon which Barringer was founded and these are the ideals upon which our future lives depend.

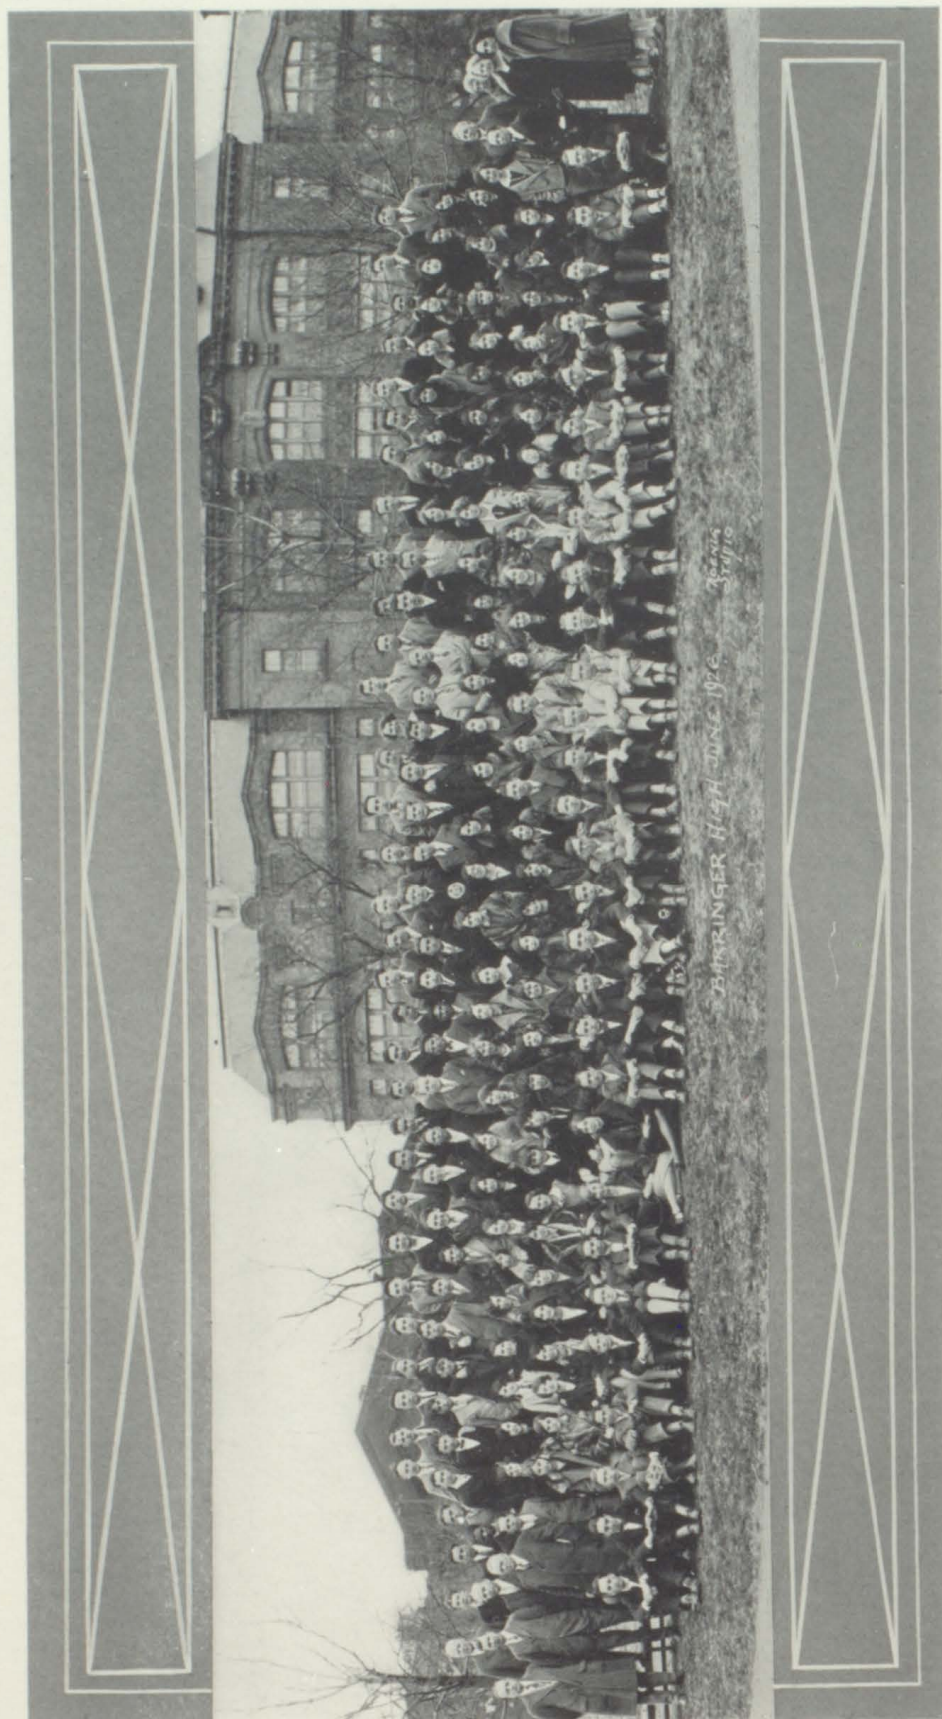

In our ranks we have formed many bonds of friendship. These friendships we have made not only with our classmates but also with our teachers. Some will continue, many will end. Happily, but somewhat sadly, shall we recall those fond recollections of days beneath your hospitable shelter, O Barringer!

We shall take diverse paths in the world. Some of us will become famous, no doubt, while others will do great good for the world without great honor. But, no matter who we are, or what we do, or what we become, we shall be, in the words of our Alma Mater, "Loyal to life's ending."

But, the time has come, the Last Stroke has peeled out into the tense air, our independence is signed, we must go.

Hail to your banners wide unfurled streamers of blue and white

The first system of musical notation for the song 'Class'. It consists of three staves: a vocal line in treble clef, a piano accompaniment in treble clef, and a bass line in bass clef. The key signature has two flats (B-flat and E-flat), and the time signature is 4/4. The vocal line begins with the lyrics 'Hail to your banners wide unfurled streamers of blue and white'.

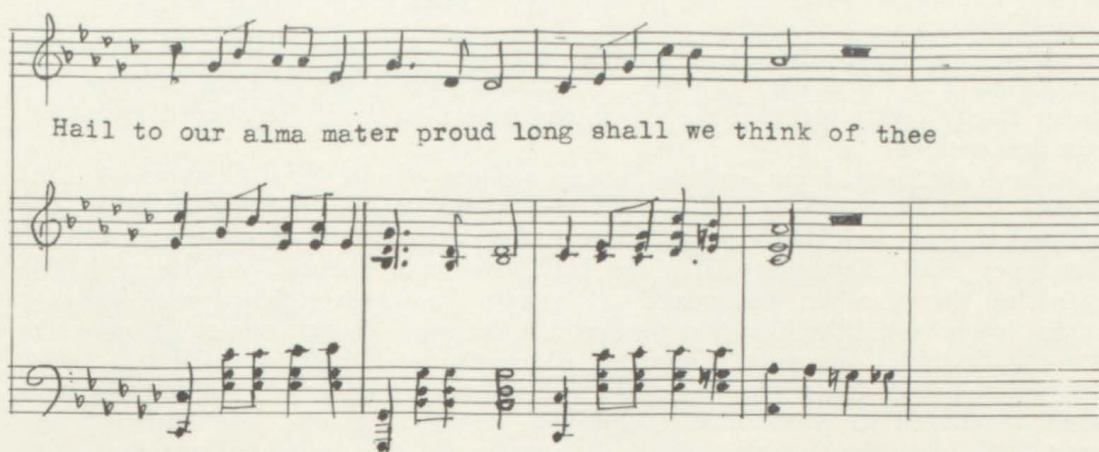

Lifted on high to the blazing sky proud in your emblem of might

The second system of musical notation for the song 'Class'. It consists of three staves: a vocal line in treble clef, a piano accompaniment in treble clef, and a bass line in bass clef. The key signature has two flats (B-flat and E-flat), and the time signature is 4/4. The vocal line begins with the lyrics 'Lifted on high to the blazing sky proud in your emblem of might'.

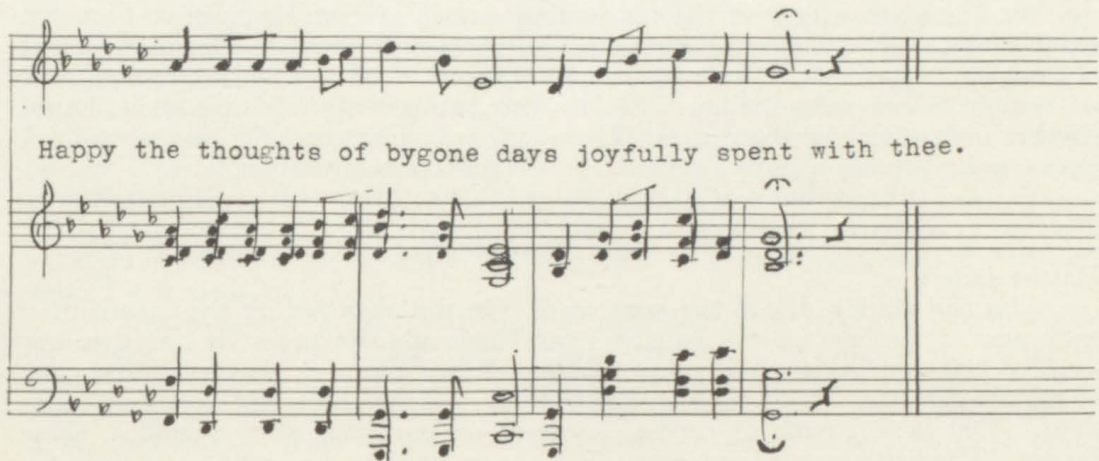

Cheer and salute her as we part,
Sing to her lasting fame,
Raise your farewell from grateful hearts
Filled with this last refrain.

Song

Hail to our alma mater proud long shall we think of thee

The first system of musical notation consists of three staves. The top staff is a single melodic line in treble clef. The middle and bottom staves are a piano accompaniment in treble and bass clefs, respectively, featuring chords and moving lines.

Happy the thoughts of bygone days joyfully spent with thee.

The second system of musical notation also consists of three staves, following the same structure as the first system, with a single melodic line and a two-part piano accompaniment.

Rise to the roll of yon beating drum,
Onward to life's open fray,
Hark to the thrill of yon bugle's call
Herald of closing day.

CLASSICAL ANACHRONISM

(Extracts from the Original Letters of George Washington to His Wife)
Freshmen Class, September 9, '22.

Dear Martha:—

I arrived in due time at Barringer, making excellent connections from the Bloomfield to Clifton car. Patrick Rice was awaiting me at Park Avenue and in his friendly way escorted me across the square to the green domed structure, our destination.

As I promised, I am sending you an account of our First Continental Congress. The illustrious assemblage of the country's wit, pouring in from the spirited Clifton and Mt. Prospect lines, gathered in awed and solemn dignity at Barringer Hall, September 5. The corridors were already buzzing with the gathering throng when we arrived. We were forthwith supplied with enticing books, teachers and the like, that we might better our intellects and so fit ourselves for the Second Continental Congress, which as the Seniors assured us, would add poise, polish and persecution. (The Seniors, my dear, are the assemblymen alone privileged to wear brass buckles—a domineering lot. We fear for our very heads when they are around.) They welcomed us at a magnificent reception, marked by its elegance and lollypops.

We discussed with heat the Navigation Acts of Great Barringer. Can you imagine, my dear, the stairways marked with ups and downs? One is expected to navigate accordingly. Civic agents are propped at all the main thoroughfares and delight in enforcing the law. Besides, our brains are sorely taxed with Latin, Algebra and other veiled subjects. How well we shall stand the severe strain I cannot say. We are hoping for the best. Affectionately yours,

GEORGE.

Sophomore Class, September 6, '23.

Martha Dear:—

Alas and alack! Blood has been shed. On the night before the examination encounter at Lexington, the gallant Paul Hochstuhl Revere rode through our terrified class on his faithful pony Caesar. When morning dawned a company of minute-men stood with pens unsheathed, dauntlessly facing the volley of questions. You have heard, of course. Several of our men were wounded, some fatally. The battle opened our eyes. We are resolved to do or die.

The Second Continental Congress is in session. The precariousness of our position, the difficult problems to be solved, and the perplexing questions facing us, tend to make us cram and burn the midnight oil. The dignity of our position has added weight. We are beginning to realize the inferiority of the lower assemblymen and we are glad that we at no time made the usual blunders of lower class men. To us the Seniors have assumed a greater importance, inasmuch as they now attend early session with us. It is well. For co-operation will be needed. News of a battle at Flunker Hill has just arrived. Many of our men were lost. The time has come when we must band together.

Affectionately yours, GEORGE.

Junior Class, September 6, '24.

Dear Martha:—

The Declaration of Independence has been signed! It is moved that these colonies are and of right ought to be free, independent and organized. We may no longer be grouped with Sophomores and Freshies. We are the all-knowing, awe-inspiring Juniors! On me has been bestowed the title of "Commander-in-Chief" of our courageous army. By the voice of the people Henry Schoettly shall lead the onward march and by his side the valiant Colonel Garbrielle Tetaz, the Majors Mabel Gracie and Jack Chenowith, whose respective duties lie in recording the frays and in collecting just taxes for the expense of the war. To relieve the staff at mid-year shall be Colonel Flora Kirst and Majors Cornelia Ferguson and Theodore Weeks.

"To the roll of the drum let the onslaught be met." We are ready! The Morris Canal has been crossed; we have passed from the Bank of Inactivity to the Region of Rapid Movements. The eyes of the world are upon us, for the Battle of the Marionettes has been successfully fought and won. Ah, it was a noble victory. We found the audience sleeping; we raised them up; we threw them back; we stretched their necks; we strained their eyes. In an hour, intoxicated with joy, the vanquished enemy fled from the noisy amphitheater. We had demonstrated our resourcefulness and prodigious strength. The enemy had been driven out and we had won a base from which we might advance to further conquests.

We endured many hardships during the winter at Valley Forge and suffered immeasurably towards the end of January but by the providence of the faculty, most of the army came back for more in the spring.

We are now confronted with the vast problem of administering the crushing blow and establishing ourselves as a recognized sovereign power.

Affectionately yours, GEORGE.

Senior Class, September 8, '25.

Dearest Martha:—

We have come into our just deserts at last! We are Seniors. The height of our position may be easily seen in the awed, idolizing expressions of those about us. We cannot pass at the bell signal from Campus 33 to Campus 55 without an admiring throng following us. It is all a bit disconcerting of course, but we realize the good intentions of all and accept their homage with politeness touched by just a bit of indifference which befits our exalted rank. The heretofore aloof French, known to the world as Senior A's under the leadership of Louis Taylor XVI, have been willing to commit themselves to a formal alliance. They have aided us in breaking the monotony of army life by a dazzling reception where all danced and made merry.

It was with just pride I watched the awarding of B Honors to members of our army early in the term. The titles, President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer were respectively conferred on Willard McDowell, Cornelia Ferguson, Mabel Gracie and Mario Massa. To the list have been added the names of those awarded A Honors, President Willard McDowell, Vice-President Flora Kirst, Secretary Vera Sturchio, and Treasurer Mario Massa. All hail to our leaders!

A daring plan has been successfully executed. Spies, on being sent into the Northwest Territory, reported the 1B Indians to be only lukewarm in their allegiance to their new masters. Forthwith plans were made to win the affection of the little Indians. A sumptuous reception was given for their benefit. A buzzing throng filled the amphitheater at the presentation of the stirring drama, "The Obstinate Family." So moved were the little Indians by the moral of the play, that they left their obstinacy behind them and rushed with joyous shouts to the gym, where they gave their interpretation of the Charleston Whoop; while in the homey atmosphere of the library the braves and their squaws enjoyed pink lemonade and cake.

I feel that the fight is drawing to a close. With the money from our "Vaude-Villians" we shall be able to chronicle all the glorious events of the four year's war. Meanwhile we await "The Last Stroke."

Affectionately yours,

GEORGE.

PROPHECY

The Colonial Chronicle

SHORTLY after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, Robert Massa Morris received a letter from George Milwitzky Washington, asking him to raise funds for carrying on the war, and incidentally to look after Martha Bastedo Washington's interests at Germantown. Morris went from house to house in Philadelphia, unsuccessfully collecting funds. In his travels he met Caroline Free and Miriam Ainbinder, two coquettes, popular with the soldiers of Lawrence Adams Howe's army. Next he visited Beau Larkey, a fashion plate and dancing master, who was instructing Mistresses Bono, Thobieson, Scott, Falco, Julian and Masters Joseph Gialanella, Misuriello, Patteta, Labella and Remondelli in the intricacies of the minuet. Lorenzo Gonzales and Count Ludwig Schoeber, foreign visitors, were interested spectators. Morris was given a liberal contribution by Mayor Jeremiah McDowell. On his way to the Quaker Meeting house, Morris met Mistresses Catherine Reynick, Beth Lydiard, Ruth Mahon, Beulah Dede, Dorothy McLoughlin and Betty Morris, Philadelphia belles, eagerly discussing the great ball which had recently taken place. From them he learned that among the aristocratic guests were Mistresses Crowhurst, Kerr, Harriet Baker, Foster, Phelan, Fassett, Hoffhire, Quigley, Nathan and Beaus Tiffany, Eisenberg, Porter, Jacobson, and Berman. When Morris arrived at his destination he found Hope Entemann, Patience Parsons, Faith Burnet, Jane Wells, Prudence Hector, Dorcas Roche and Priscilla Arnold already there.

The following day, he had his picture taken by Obadiah Yerzley, the inventor of photography. Not long after this event, he attended a social gathering at the estate of Hezekiah Bechtel, a prominent man of the time. It was here that he met the Marquise Mabelle Gracie de Lafayette, and Countesses Antoinette Geiger Rambouillet, Floriette Kirst Lelaigue and Louise Francke de Chairman, all of whom he found to his liking. Also present were two "bluestockings"—Corneliette Carpenter and Rose Cervasio, bookworms of vast learning. The entertainment was provided by talented members of the Vaudevillian Circuit, composed of Jenny Raschal, John Cervasio, Ralph Caprio and William Cairns.

One day as he walked along the street, he met some old friends and generous contributors—Helen Ricks, Henrietta Morrissey, Alphonse Nisivoccia, Annette Sasso, Hattie Lawrence, Reva Williamson, Clarence Mignone and Nathaniel Kolend. A little farther on, a soap-box orator was loudly advocating the policy of the Vaudevillian party, to a crowd of people. In the crowd, Morris recognized Masters Spaulding, Klein, Lanzara, Harris, Bryden, Pleva, Bauman and some "Suffragettes"—Mistresses Ames, Ferguson, Hass, Lombardi and Pellegia. A soldier, Philip Moss, broke up the mob and arrested the would-be speaker, David Rice Henry. After this disturbance, the venerable Morris visited Independence Hall, where sat the Continental Congress, among whom were Masters Rieman, Wurfell, Ranney and WaWrd. The proud building was taken care of by Albert Farese and Michael Beredesca. Another meeting-place was the coffeehouse, kept by Ben Johnson Davello, where congregated the political "big-wigs" of the age, John Ganey Hancock, Elbridge McGuire Gerry, Thomas Albrecht Jefferson, signers of the Declaration. Here was employed as bar-maid Helen Williams, while Philip Mangogna was the assistant manager.

A prominent fencing-master and an old schoolmate of Morris' was Guglielmo Matonti, among whose pupils were found Napoliello, Kolba, Rocco Gialanella, Rinaldi, Kocan, Martino and Perrone. While still in the city, Morris secured the help of Mistresses Collins, Darnay, Restaiuo, Rella Williams and Hanor, who sold flowers on the streets, to aid in raising money. At another time, Mistress Roberta Donaldson, the well known portrait painter, exhibited some of her masterpieces. In these, William Jacobs was portrayed as "Glorious Apollo" and Bruce Harden as "Sir Galahad." Not long after Benjamin Boettinger Franklin was appointed ambassador to France, Morris wrote to Samuel Brown Adams asking him to tend to the collecting of funds in Boston and vicinity.

In the meantime, Morris went to New York. Among his traveling companions on the stage coach were Janet Van Blarcom, Clara Soden, Matilda Gaertner, Ellen Guest, Julius Rauch, William Mojjis, Wilbur Hummel and Charles Barth, all well known New Yorkers. When out on a lonely road, the coach was attacked by two wild Indians, Chief Massassoit Scherer and his right-hand scalper, Hiawatha Morse. Sad to relate, the gallant Barth was gloriously slain protecting the weaker sex.

Adams, in accordance with the banker's request, appointed Adolph Rizzolo and Julius Friedland as agents. The leading paper, "Ye Boston Gazette," under the editorship of Robert Costello, with the aid of his staff—Warren, Bergoffen, Shapiro and De Cicco—was instrumental in promoting the greatness of the contributions.

Two mysterious strangers from the South, Senorita Rosita Naedele and Mademoiselle Gabrielle Tetaz, were the favorite topics of discussion in Boston sewing-circles because of their bold flirtations with the gay men-about-town, among whom were found Ensign Cowell, James Yuill and Theodore Weeks. One of these circles in particular was composed of Kate Beal, Betsy Morehouse, Editha Baker, Abigail Paskow, Katherine Hippel and presided over by Mistress Ryerson. Another cause for gossip was the wild behavior of a number of wild young bloods who were attending forbidden cock-fights. Among these were numbered Gruber, Ferri, Luciani, Schwarzman, Rosamilia, Shreehan, Brennan and Soraci. A prominent reform minister was Robert Brigden, with his equally zealous deacons, Sidney Bunin, George Clark and Carl Kempf. It was with great sadness that Boston learned that Ferdinand Wolf had been ordered to diet by his physician, William Rice.

Just about this time, the town crier, James McMurray announced that General Nathaniel Strauss Greene had taken command of the Southern armies, and also that John Paul Philburn Jones had captured the British frigate "Annapolis." Boston hailed with great delight and joy, August Gornitsky, a Polish engineer who came here to offer his services to the American cause.

Rizzolo was now sent to canvass New England. He arrived at one little town in the midst of great excitement. The inn where he stopped was kept by Benjamin Eskin who had as chef, Edgar La Capra, as butler, Robert Lakamp, as chief pancake-turner Albert Beams and as hostler, James Meola. The town was filled with people come to see the witch trial. Among the visitors were found Mistresses Berardesca, Padula, Urciuoli, Racioppi, Minisi and Masters Baker, Beltrani, Caputo, and Carpenter. The alleged witches, Sarah Ginsberg, Mildred Small, Ruth Schomp, and Congetta Tedesco, were tried by Lucian Della Fera and Louis Gash. The trial was instigated by a group of strict Puritan women, among whom were Katherine Philburn, Lillian Mott, Edith Hofer, Miranda Burch and Helen Benjamin. The witches were found "not guilty" of practicing villainy. Frank Vanderhoof, the town butcher, with the assistance of Balsamo, and Fosman, the errand boy, kindly offered to supply the whole army with meat but his offer was refused, whereupon he refused to sell sausage to the town thereafter. The town was very proud of the schoolmaster, William Fabry, and his precocious pupils—Roxanna Blake, Paul Hochstuhl, Gertrude Taylor, Rocco Angelo, Veronica Sturchio, Elsie Morgan and Flora Ciliberti. It was especially indignant at Jacob Growman who was forever in the stocks for making undue noise and sporting gay cravats, sometimes with Ralph Mango, Rotundi, Sturchio and De Vivo as companions in misery.

Thus ends "Ye Colonial Chronicle."

A Declaration of Independence of the Senior Class of 1926

WE HOLD these truths to be self-evident: That all students are created equal; that they are endowed by the Board of Education with certain unalienable rights, among these, youth, happiness and the pursuit of knowledge. That to secure these rights schools were instituted among men, deriving their unjust powers without the consent of the ungoverned, and whenever any system of school becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the pupils to abolish it and introduce a new system, based on such principles as will seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence will dictate that systems long established should not be changed for light or transient causes. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right and duty to throw off such a system and to provide new guards for their security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these 4A's, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former system of school management. The history of the present Faculty of Barringer is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny of these 4A's. To prove this, let us submit these facts to the candid world.

It, the Faculty, has forced administration of justice.

It has forced us to use an up stairway when going up, and a down stairway when going down.

It has kept among us, in times of peace, officers to keep order in the halls.

It has forced us to go regularly to assembly.

It has forbid our eating candy in classes.

It has refused its assent to rules, the most wholesome and necessary to the public good:—

Cutting.

Talking in auditorium during a dry speech.

Attending classes whenever desired.

Holding hands in certain classrooms.

It has endeavored to prevent the population of the classrooms; for that purpose instituting laws for the expulsion of those flunking exams or repeating subjects.

It has excited domestic insurrection among us by leading the "freshies" to believe that they are on the same social plane as Seniors.

It has imposed teachers upon us without consulting our wishes in the matter.

It has repeatedly dissolved social gatherings in the corridors during classes.

It has ruined the calm of our happy home life with report cards and by sending "Letters to Parents."

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned redress in most humble terms. Our repeated petitions have been answered only by harder and longer exams.

We, therefore, the Senior Class of '26, do, in the name and by the authority of the students of this class, solemnly publish and declare that these students are, and of right, ought to be free and independent.

The foregoing Declaration was engrossed and signed by the passing

WILLARD McDOWELL

"Bill McDougall?" Well, I guess! He's been one of the "big shots" on the football field. He went out for football in '23 and Coach Pritchard spotted him and made him a member of the big team in his first year. It was then he won his first B and gold football. Football season of '24 rolled around and Bill was out again. During the season, however, Bill's leg was injured seriously. But did that stop him? No, sir. He was there in all his glory for the big game of the season, on Thanksgiving Day. Another B added to his growing collection! And then—1925. Do you remember his work in the backfield? When Charlie made his forward passes to Bill? When Bill raced down the field for just six more points? Well, I guess we all do. And so Bill won his last Barringer B and gold football working on the Champion Team. A coming college football star? Wait and see!

WILLIAM BERGOFFEN

Here's another "Bill" who's a star in our athletic ranks! The fall of '24 found "Bill" feeling the turf of a gridiron for the first time, but his versatility on the field was soon discovered and at the end of the season he had his B. In the following spring "Bill" was seen chasing flies and wielding a trusty bat in a search for new honors on the baseball diamond. That he was successful, there is no need of saying, because this year he is Captain of our baseball team. In the fall of '25 he was out carrying on the work he had begun the previous season. If you know anything about our Championship Team you know the part "Bergy" played in boosting the team to its high perch. All one can say after looking at that record (and not forgetting his merman (?) instincts) is that Bill ought to have a bright future.

LAWRENCE GONZALES

"Larry" Gonzales is a by-word for persistence. Two years of faithful and hard work on the scrub team, without any seeming brighter prospects would be enough to discourage anyone, but not Larry. Again he came out in '25 and then earned a regular position in the lines. His reward was a B and the much coveted gold football. Track is another sport in which "Larry" has engaged successfully. This year he is one of our mainstays in the distances and much is expected of him.

JERRY ROSAMILIA

Considering the promise Jerry showed in one year, we wonder what he would have done if given more time. A year ago the name of Rosamilia was little known in athletic circles. Now it is a name to be connected with the Championship Team and Jerry has a B and a gold football to prove it. This spring Jerry is on the diamond exhibiting his usual fine playing in baseball.

LUCIEN DELLA FERA

Della Fera first went out for baseball in '25 and was successful in making the "nine," receiving, at the end of the season, a B and gold baseball as his reward. This season he is out on the diamond again and history seems ready for the repeating trick. Del also went out for soccer in '24 and '25 and from this sport his trophies are two script B's.

ALFONSO NISIVOCIA

Nisivoccia did not come out for any Barringer sport until the football season of 1925. His splendid playing earned him a berth on the regular team and he was one of the Stockholders in the Championship Team, Inc., having his B and gold football as certificates of worth.

Minor Sports

Besides the athletes who won recognition in major sports, we must also remember those who have, just as faithfully and willingly, devoted their time to the minor sports such as soccer and cross country. Those who have won their script B's in soccer are: Charlie Barth, Bill Jacobs, Valentine Sturchio, John Cervasio, Edward La Capra, Teddie Weeks, Carmine Lanzara and Ludwig Shoeber.

The cross country team this year has made a good showing and has the following Senior members: Julius Rauch, Bill Cairns and Olindo Luciana.

"B" Girls

Athletic Girls

EDITH HOFER

One of Barringer's most brilliant athletes is Edith. She has entered every spring meet since she came to Barringer, coming away with six B's. She excelled in basketball, hockey and was a member of the swimming team, when that club was in existence. Edith was Captain in '23, '24, '25 and '26. To top it off, she is entitled to a gold tassel.

BEULAH DEDE

She may be small but oh, my! Beulah was Gym Captain in '23, '24, '25 and '26 and has received cords for the first three years. She is in hopes of receiving one this year which would make her a tassel girl. Beulah has also played hockey and has been in nearly every exhibition, among them the Stadium Exhibition of '25 and the Annual Gym Exhibition.

GABRIEL TETAZ

"Gay" is one of those naturally born athletes. She was constantly showing her prowess in basketball, hockey and in the spring meets, where she earned her two B's. "Gay" fondly expects her gold tassel at the end of the term. She has acted as Captain for four years and has been in many gym exhibitions, among which was the Stadium Circus of '25.

ESTHER BASTEDO

Heard of "Es"? No doubt! She's the one who's always in danger of a broken neck as a result of rope climbing. Esther was handicapped by entering Barringer in her second year. She won two B's in the spring meets; has been a Gym Captain ever since she entered and has gone out for hockey. Esther was in various exhibitions, including the Circus of '25.

MABEL GRACIE

Mabel is another of the few girls who have all of their cords. This means her gold tassel at graduation. She has been a Gym Captain during her four years at Barringer and she has played in hockey. In the gym meets held in the spring, Mabel won not one, but two B's. She was also in the Circus and in other exhibitions given by Barringer.

FLORA KIRST

Although Flora has been busy working for the good of the Class, she has spent some time in the athletic field. Flora went out for the various activities around school, starting hockey in her Freshman year, and winning her two B's in the spring meets. She was Gym Captain for three years and expects her Senior Cord. She was also in the Stadium Exhibition of '25.

MILDRED SMALL

Wherever one hears of an athletic meet, "Shorty" is sure to be there. She was Gym Captain in '23, '24, '25, '26 and has three cords. "Shorty" went out for hockey and was also in the outdoor gym meet. She has been in many exhibitions and participated in the Circus and Annual Gym Meet. "Shorty" will leave Barringer with five B's to her credit.

Ye Old Wise Cracks

(For key to personalities in Limericks, see Popularity Contest)

There's a boy called Reverend McDowell,
Who ne'er on his face had a scowl,
Till Beulah said no
Which affected him so
That he strangled himself with a towel.

Principal in Assembly: "This talking in assembly must stop. Will the teachers please distribute themselves about the auditorium?"

There was once a girl named Kirst,
Who in all her studies was first.
If you ask Ammarell
He surely will tell
How great her historical thirst.

SOME CAVITY

Peggy to Bill: "Every time you open your mouth you put your foot in it."

The class has a modest young fellow,
Whose short name is Napoliello.
To see Mabel's smile
He'd walk many a-mile
But when he sees her he shivers like jello.

A: "I had a dog who could tell the difference between a gentleman and a hobo."

B: "What happened to him?"

A: "I gave him away—he bit me."

Bridgen, whom the girls call Bobby
And think that he's most nobby.
A new one each day
Is his record they say.
There's no doubt as to what is his hobby.

Vanderhoof, in history: "The Democrats kicked at this bill."

Mr. Ammarell: "You must have been thinking of the Democratic donkey when you used that expression."

There's a bright business chap named Massa
Whose chase after dues is alas—a
Most difficult task.
When for money he'd ask
He'd get from the boys some sass—ah!

"Hasn't she poetic feet?"

"Yes, I've been scanning them myself."

If there's a fellow who's safe from all spoonin'
It's surely our sylph-like young Bunin.
Wherever the boys
Make the worst noise,
You'll find him quite ready to tune-in.

"What makes the policemen so fat?"
"Too much traffic jam."

A great big bluffer is Julia
Who's always ready to fool you.
She'll stand up to recite
As if she'd studied all night,
Which for Julia would be most peculiar

If there should be another flood
For refuge hither fly.
For if the whole world submerged
Our homework would still be dry.

Doorkeeper at 1B Reception: "Are you a 1B?"

Freshie: "No, I'm a food inspector. Let's see the eats."

Mr. Ammarell, calling for a recitation from Mabel, who had been sitting almost a whole period at a desk wherein rested a nice lunch flavored with garlic: "Well, Miss Gracie, you ought to be pretty strong today."

He, passing the candy: "Sweets to the sweet."

She: "Thank you. May I pass the nuts?"

To flunk is human; to pass is divine.

It was about 2 A. M.—
 "Waw-waw-wow-wow," wailed the baby.
 "Four bawls and I walk," said the ball player daddy feeling for his slippers.

Of all the handsome young sheiks
 The most outstanding is Weeks.
 As a high school Apollo
 He beats them all hollow,
 This Weeks with the apple-red cheeks.

History Prof: "My dear young lady, do you mean to say that you have never heard of the Mayflower Compact?"

She: "No, what is it? A new Djer-Kiss product?"

A scholarly boy is Hochstuhl,
 Who knows every axiom and rule.
 He knows Latin galore
 And German still more,
 'Twould be a pleasure to flunk him tho' cruel.

Senior: "How do you like my room as a whole?"

Freshie: "As a hole it's fine, as a room, not so good."

The tallest of our class is Small
 If she fell, how hard would she fall!
 Were our own little Shreehan
 If that human being
 That fall wouldn't hurt him at all.

There's a boy named David H. Rice,
 Collecting ads is his vice,
 If they say that's not nice
 He'll say he's H. Rice
 Then they give him one, neat and concise.

All her lessons she knew
 And nothing is new.
 For indeed, she could not be brighter.

"That man is a great painter."
 "What does he paint?"
 "He paints designs on the shades of night."

Our best athlete is Bergoffen,
 A better chap you don't meet so often
 For he's such a good sport
 Since he entered our port
 That some day his heart will sure soften.

Suffragette: "In a battle of tongues a woman can always hold her own."
 Cynic: "Yes, but she never does."

There's a fine chap named Bob Costello
 And there's not a finer fellow.
 In boosting Acropolis sales
 He never does fail
 This business-like fellow, Costello.

Dip: "That girl is a corker."
 Loma: "Who is she?"
 Dip: "She works down at the bottling works."

There's a slick young man, Gialanella,
 A niftily dressed young fella.
 With his lavender socks
 And a haircomb that knocks
 There's none that can beat Gialanella.

Wife: "I'm getting tired of married life."
 Hubby: "So is your old man."

Say, How do you like My LARKEY SUIT?”

Isn't it a corker though. Two button collegiate model, wide trousers—two pairs of pants, too. This is really the newest cloth. They've got so many wonderful suits at Larkey's that I had an easy time to make my selection. If you want a good suit and topcoat for Spring at a reasonable price, go to Larkey's first.

Values and Visions

A MERICAN high school students have a characteristic which makes them one of the stanchest pillars of society—their unswerving determination to become valued factors in the general progress of the nation.

OUR educational system is unexcelled in the efficiency with which it forms character. Further than this, its traditions exert good influence even beyond the award of the diploma. But the beginning of a successful career depends often upon the resources at the command of the young man or young woman about to embark.

THESE needs, peculiar to young Americans, may, by the practice of a little self-denial, be met through Endowment policies, a form of life insurance protection which not only protects the holder but builds a fund that will give you a rolling start toward your objective.

Talk it over with the Prudential man.

What can you do?

Maybe you have finished High School. Naturally you call attention to it as a point in your favor—and it is.

"That's fine," agrees the manager. "We want educated helpers in our business—but just what can you do? What experience or special training have you had?"

There is no lack of inexperienced applicants for office work. You have seen the "no experience required" Want Ads—and the long lines of inexperienced applicants patiently waiting before office doors—waiting their turn to go in; and the successful applicant—what does he or she get? Only the lowest wage in an office—the wage of inexperience.

But, if you answer the question, "What can you do?" by saying "I am a graduate Comptometer operator," that identifies you at once as belonging to a different class—the skilled worker class.

In looking for employment, you will find in all lines of business that preference is given to trained workers. Such applicants always command a higher wage, right from the start, than the common clerk without special training.

Sales Literature that Sells Your Product

MERCHANTS and Manufacturers are multiplying their appropriations for sales literature. The reason is sound. Sales literature—going direct to specific individuals—sells more merchandise at LESS COST. It does missionary work at a FEW CENTS a call—as against DOLLARS for a salesman's call.

The planning of successful sales literature, like the drafting of a legal document, needs the directing minds of experienced counselors.

In your business you can profitably use sales literature. Write or phone us that you are interested.
